In the skillet, heat the remaining teaspoon of oil. Sauté mushrooms 1 minute, add the broth, thyme and the remaining vinegar. Cool stirring occasionally, until the mushrooms are deep brown, about 2 minutes longer. Serve chicken, topped with mushrooms.

When you are cooking chicken make sure it is not partially raw chicken because it is not safe to eat. Bone-in chicken parts are done when juices run clear and a meat thermometer shows they have reached an internal temperature of 170 degrees F.
