Tomato and Cucumber Salad

Adjust the amount of chilly to your taste. Wear plastic or rubber gloves while handling the chillies to protect skin from the oil in them. Avoid direct contact with eyes, and wash hands thoroughly after handling.

When buying tomatoes you should look for ones that are firm and juicy with bright, unblemished skin. Choose those that have a deep color and give a little when squeezed. And remember: a ripe tomato smells like a tomato; unripe ones have no aroma.
